Synopsis

How do you ruin someone's childhood? You make them believe that they are a monster. And then you tear away the mask

Ellie was born into the infamous Lovinger acting dynasty - granddaughter to infamous Lottie Lovinger, with whom she once shared the screen, playing the child monster in an indie horror film.

Now seventeen, Ellie has returned home for the first time in years; to be with Lottie and to try and heal the rifts that her iconic film role wrought.

But forgiveness feels like playing make-believe, and memories are like ghosts. Until, she meets a girl called Riya at a horror film club and might finally find a way to take off her monster mask.

A novel about the power of art, family, forgiveness - and embracing the things that scare us, in order to be a little bit braver. It's Everything Leads to You by Nina LaCour, with a dash of The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo by Taylor Jenkins Reid, for the YA set.

Author

Danielle Binks is a Melbourne-based writer, reviewer, agent, book blogger and Youth Literature Advocate. In 2017, she edited and contributed to Begin, End, Begin, an anthology of new Australian young adult writing inspired by the #LoveOzYA movement, which won the ABIA Book of the Year for Older Children (Ages 13+) and was shortlisted in the 2018 Gold Inky Awards. The Year the Maps Changed is Danielle's debut middle-grade novel coming out with Hachette Australia in 2020.

"Rich in detail and plot, it's a terrific story with a slow reveal that will keep you turning pages."

The Herald Sun

"There is an unexpected intersection where family, grief, forgiveness, and horror films meet, and in the lovely centre is Danielle Binks' The Monster of Her Age. Realistic, romantic, inclusive, and full of heart, this book belongs on everyone's shelf."

Trish Doller, author of Start Here, and Float Plan

Synopsis

Sunburnt Veils is a smart, funny, character-based exploration of Islamophobia through a heroine who's the kind of girl who reads at parties, but pushes herself to take a stand after a fellow student calls in a bomb threat on her first day of university.

Tara is a unicorn. She wears hijab even though her parents hate it, and in a swipe right world she's looking for the 'will go to the ends of the earth for you' type of connection. Or, she would be, if she hadn't sworn off boys to focus on getting into med school. Besides, what was wrong with just crushing on the assassins, mages and thieves in the fantasy books she loved?

When a bomb threat throws her and (totally annoying party king) Alex together, things get complicated. Tara needs to decide if she's happy reading about heroes, or if she's ready to step up and become one herself.

Author

Sara Haghdoosti was born in Tehran, grew up in Sydney and is currently based in Chicago (It generally takes her ten minutes to answer the question, "Where are you from?") She's always loved writing, and was a regional winner of the Sydney Morning Herald Young Writer of the year award.

Sara got her start in politics at the Australian Youth Climate Coalition, GetUp and Change.org, and went on to found Berim, a non-profit working to support changemakers in Iran.

Sara's commentary on politics and Islam has appeared in the Sydney Morning Herald, and on ABC TV.

"A must-read about what it takes to be a real hero, from a vital new voice."

Jenna Guillaume

"Clever, warm and heartfelt. Sunburnt Veils perfectly captures the ramifications of challenging stereotypes whilst demonstrating that you're never alone when being true to your heart."

Synopsis

Magic, mystery and darkness – a gripping fantasy adventure for lovers of Philip Pullman's The Golden Compass. In this page-turning debut, one girl must figure out why she is the key to two worlds, before time itself falls under the control of the powerful and the greedy.

It's 1858, and there are two queens on the throne. Victoria reigns over London, the biggest city the world has ever known. But London has a secret shadow city, called Donlon, where another queen, the Green Witch, rules her own domain – time.

London is in turmoil. The Thames is at the height of the Great Stink; a blazing comet is searing the sky; technology is moving so fast it seems otherworldly; and the city is exploding with more people than it can hold. Ava, a fourteen-year-old Londoner, feels trapped by the limited life of a young Victorian woman and by her watchmaking apprenticeship with her father. Her predictable world is turned upside down when she discovers that the body in her mother's grave is not her mother, but a stranger.

When Ava goes in search of her real mother and her true identity, she is thrust into the dark world of Donlon and must fight a battle to save those she loves and the future of both worlds . . .

Author

Karen Ginnane is a Melbourne-based author for middle grade and young adult readers. Penguin Random House Australia is publishing her debut novel Tilt and its sequel When Souls Tear, historical fantasy adventures set in Victorian London and a parallel city.

Karen has been variously employed as a freelance copywriter, a marketing director for Paramount Pictures in London, a grain weighbridge operator in rural WA, a swimming teacher, a life model, a deckhand in Chile and an English teacher in Japan. She's also taught creative writing and bellydance, published short stories and in 2020 received a Varuna Creative Retreat Fellowship for When Souls Tear.

"When Days Tilt invites readers into a vibrant and intricate world, full of imagination and mystery. An absorbing debut for fans of Philip Pullman."

Anna Morgan, author of All That Impossible Space

Synopsis

The hawker's wagon jingled and jingled as it came down the track ...

Annie and Arthur have been eagerly awaiting Bhagwan Singh's next visit. What wondrous things will he have in his cart this time, among the silk and soap, spices and shirts?

As the hawker makes his camp for the night, the children savour spun sugar and food from the Punjab, discovering the secret star anise.

A gentle story about embracing different traditions, based on the stories of Sikh hawkers in Australia in the late 1800s.

Author

Jane Jolly is a teacher and multi award winning writer. She has taught at Koonibba Aboriginal School and has worked as a governess on Commonwealth Hill Station.

A hilarious story that follows cheeky farmyard animals and their antics when the farmer goes to bed by Multi-award-winning creators.

Look Baby

Janeen Brian and
Renée Tremblé

Look, Baby! is perfect for parents to introduce and talk about the world with their baby. The clever cut-out design helps parents show their child how to look around them at all the different and exciting things there are to see. Work together to spot all the fun hidden items throughout the book.

Look Baby

Janeen Brian and
Renée Tremblé

Four beautiful eggs hatch and four delightfully fluffy chickens emerge. One little chicken quickly realises she's different, but not sure why. In a quest to find answers and hopefully a friend, she sets off to explore the farm.

Hush Say The Stars

Margaret Spurling and Mandy Foot

All is quiet, all is still as the first stars appear in the evening sky. As night closes in, the farm settles down with all the animals, big and small, knowing that now is the time to snuggle into their warm cosy beds.

Let's Go Strolling

Katrina Germein and Danny Snell

A delightful story with simple rhythm which centres on a family spending the day together out and about. Strolling to the park they say hello to a neighbour, marvel at the orange bus, wave to a rubbish truck and point to the ducks waddling by.

Jump and Shout

Mike Dumbleton and
Peter Carnavas

Join this energetic family as they have fun outside! This limited-text picture book is a celebration of movement, laughter and imaginative play.

Wilbur, Grace, and Joe

Cummings and Amanda Graham

Join Wilbur, a fun-loving family pet as he shares the joy of Grace and Joe's first years. He worries when they fall, he rejoices with their first steps... and faithfully joins in all their adventures.
